Additional Community Programs

- Family Connects Chicago at Swedish Hospital provides essential at-home support for new parents in Chicago, at no cost to families who deliver at Swedish Hospital. This program, in collaboration with the Chicago Department of Public Health and Family Connects International, offers comprehensive care including baby and mother health checks, breastfeeding support and guidance on infant care. Nurses assist with navigating health care and community resources, enhancing family wellbeing and connecting them to vital local services during the critical early weeks with a newborn.
- The Food Connections Program addresses food insecurity and promotes health by distributing food packages upon patient discharge and operating food pantries with fresh and non-perishable items available anytime. The program also features The Farm, a community garden for staff, and conducts food insecurity screenings.
- The Community Outreach Registered Dietitians (CORD) Program builds community through nutrition and includes comprehensive nutrition and cooking classes taught in Swedish Hospital's Community Wellness Center and at events in the surrounding community.
- The Pathways Program at Swedish Hospital provides crucial support for patients experiencing domestic violence, human trafficking and sexual assault, leveraging healthcare providers' roles to identify abuse and offer immediate support with safety planning, crisis intervention and advocacy at bedside. The program also links survivors to free trauma counseling and case management services on campus and provides connections to orders of protections and pro-bono legal representation through our community partners. Since its inception in 2015, Pathways has assisted over 2,650 patients, including 590 sexual assault survivors, and has trained 4,500 healthcare professionals.

Community Investment Fund

The Community Investment Fund is a dedicated resource aimed at fostering health and wellness, addressing social determinants of health and creating equitable access to quality healthcare within our community. By strategically allocating these funds, we support local initiatives, partnerships and non-profit organizations that respond to priority community health needs. In addition to financial support, we serve as a convener for community organizations, fostering a collaborative environment where the collective impact of our partnerships is greater than the sum of their parts.
